The attack on St. Denis and the disasters of the relief of Mrs. Harmon, deserves a passing notice at my hands. In the fall of 1861, the Federal military authorities—then in Kentucky—in anticipation of an advance into East Tennessee, commissioned two gentlemen and sent them through the rebel lines with instrucrefuses to capitulate on German terms, tions to organize detached forces of citizens Bismark has the acceptance of them by and destroy the bridges on the line of railroad extending from Chattanooga to Bristol. In accordance with these instructions, most of the principal bridges upon this line of road were burnt on the night of the 8th of November, 1861. Mr. Harmon, in connection with his two sons and a half dozen or more of his neighbors, assisted in burn-ing the bridge across Lick Creek, in Greene county. For this, he and they were arrested and tried, not, as Senator Brownlow would have the country understand, by a 'drum-head" court-martial, but by a regular military court, organized and sworn in accordance with the rules and regulations for the government of the armies of the Confederate States. He was furthermore sued by the railroad company for $100,000 damages alleged to have been sustained in consequence of the destruction of its bridges and the obstruction of its business, A dispatch, dated at Havre, of the 24th, says the Germans, after making a requisition for forty thousand francs, shot four of the inhabitants and carried off the Mayor and three of the Councilmen. Hence, in connection with my partner, Mr. Haynes (now of Memphis), and Mr. Thornburgh, and upon Mr. Harmon's own argent entreaties, I undertook to defend the civil suit that had been instituted against him by the railroad company for $100,000 damages, and to defend him and It was during this visit that I procured the passport under which Senator Brownlow was ultimately able to pass the lines to find shelter and protection under the authority of the Federal Government.

The parties were tried separately, each trial consuming about one week. We were all present every day; examined witnesses, argued questions of law and evidence, and concluded by an elaborately written argument, which, though written by me, was the joint product of all the counsel engaged in the defense. The Senate Postoffice Committee reported a bill for bridging the Mississippi at Rooneville.

I had no interest in the note executed to Mr. Thornburgh. He was practicing alone, and made the charge and accepted the note for himself alone. Under the terms of partnership between Col. Haynes, Mr. Fleming and myself, Col. Haynes was entitled to $500; Mr. Fleming $400, and I the balance of the $2,000-note executed to us. So, the reader will see that I was only entitled to $800 out of the $8,000 secured by the deed in trust in question. This deed was executed 10th December, 1861, and by its own provisions, could have been forescaping alone, and made the charge and accepted the note for himself alone. The bill increasing pensions was passed, and goes to the President. It involves an increased expenditure of $5,000,000.

The bill abolishing the income tax was passed by a vote of 26 to 25—Blair voting "no." This is a triumph for Commissioner Pleasanton over Secretaries Boutwell and Delano. The vote was much mixed politically.

The House has been engaged on the Money was, and has ever since, been going.

At at that time speculation was active.

Money was, and has ever since, been going at high rates of interest in this city, and I could, had I been disposed, have used it to much greater advantage than to have permitted it to remain, as I did, with Mr. Harmon's family at six per cent. Nevertheless, I permitted it to remain there until the present time, never having received one single cent of it. But for the interposition of Senator Brownlow and others, who desired to prejudice me personally and who desired to prejudice me personally and politically, there would have been no controversy between Harmon's family and myself about it.

But, by keeping Messrs. Thornburgh, Haynes and Fleming in the background, and speaking of the deed in trust as a "mortgage to John Baxter," and by hyperitical demonstrations in favor of a "poor ment. Another indictment is pending against him.

But I chose to pursue a different course. On April 30th, 1867, I filed a bill in the Chancery Court at Knoxville, charging the facts ences, to abate them. But, in the event an abatement was made, to give me a decree over against Thornburgh's estate, and against Haynes and Fleming for the ex-cess paid to them. To this bill, Mrs. Har-mon and all her children, and Col. J. M. Thornburgh, of this city, as the legal representative of his father, and Messrs. Haynes and Fleming were made parties defendant. Mrs. Harmon was defended by Hon. Horace Maynard and by General Trowbridge and Mr. Alfred Caldwell. Defendants lost nothing for the want of counsel. All the defense that could be made for them was made. Testimony was duly taken and the case heard by Chancellor Temple—an appointed and personal and political friend of Senator Brownlow. Accepting my proposal, and acting in conformity with my request, he made a decree last night was especially so. The Welch Glee referring the matter to the Clerk and Master, to hear proof and report whether the fees charged were excessive or otherwise, and in and by his decree, he especially di-rected the Master to examine Thos. A. R. Nelson and J. W. Deaderick—now on the Supreme bench—and J. R. Cocke and W. P. Washburn, two prominent lawyers practicing at the bar, on the question. Thus, I became fully vested with an inde-feasible estate in fee simple to said land, and have a decree to place me in posses-sion. But I would be false to my character, and the uniform tenor of my life, were I to insist upon my strict legal rights. I never intended to do more than to indemnify myself out of this property, and hence, at the suggestion of Mrs. Harmon's coun-sel, I have permitted the family to remain

The foregoing facts all appear of record in the Chancery Court at Knoxville, and were known to Senator Brownlow when he delivered his speech.

Among others, his misrepresentations are taken up, published, and editorially commended to its readers, by the Press and Herald of this city, of which the Honorable John M. Fleming (as his own paper habitually styles him) is an editor. This is the same John M. Fleming to whom I paid his part of said fee in 1862, and now, after having had his share of the money in his pocket for a period of nine years, it is the perpetuation of Senator Brownlow's slander, to speak of the deed in trust, under which he has long since demanded and received his interest as a "mortgage to Jno. Baxter," and the collection of money paid by me to him for the benefit of Harmon's family, as fraudulent, and the robbery of a poor "widow and orphans." For this service, Harmon executed to "Haynes, Baxter & Fleming" a note for $2,000, and to Mr. Thornburgh a note for $1,000. To secure these, he gave a deed of trust upon his real estate, worth then, and now, not less than $15,000. It has suited the malice of Senator Brownlow and others always to refer to this deed in trust, executed to secure debts to Col. THE WASTES OF THE BODY Are supplied with new, healthy and vigorous blood, that furnishes sound structure. Hence all suffering from weakening discharges, either male or female, or from Ulcers or Sores, through the reparative process of Ranway's Sansaparithias are arrested, and the rup-tured organs healed.

THE TRUE THEORY OF CURE.

Ranway's Sarsaranthan Resolvent supplies the system, through the blood, urine, sweat, and structure, making constituents, with Tissue naking, Flech-making, Flech-making, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

That Scrofula, by whatever name designated, is the result of deposits from the blood, induced or caused by chronic inflammation. That those deposits take piace when the blood is poor, weak, watery, and incapable of holding in solution its proper constituents, or from the presence of some virus or poison in the blood, as Mercury, Calomel, Corrosive Sublimate, which is the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, or other agents, given in modicines, and which enters largely in the common advertised Sarsaparillas, not absorbed or changed from their natural condition.

That unless the repairs or nutriments are greater than the wastes, that decommonation and decay will supervene, and the powers of life become exhausted.

That the dying body cannot be sustained on any treatment of medication that exhausts the system or fails to nourish the blood, the only medium through which the vital forces are preserved, and on which the growth of the body depends.

OVARIAN TUMOR CURED. Never has a medicine taken internally been known to have cured tumors either of the womb, uteri, ovaries, or bowels; the knife has been the sole reliance in the hands of experienced surgeons; but Dr. Radway's Sarsaparillian settles this question. For it has cured over twenty persons of Ovarian Cysts and Tumors, as well as Tumors in the bowels, uterus, womb, liver, Dropsical Effusion, Ascites, and Calculus Concretions.

Tumor of Twelve Years' Growth Cured by Radway's Resolvent. Beverly, Mass., July 18, 1862.

Dr. Radway-I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended, but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it, but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, one box of Radways Pills, and used two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a Tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst Tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose.
